

Virginia Crime Trends 1999 - 2008

Department of Criminal Justice Services
Criminal Justice Research Center

Note

This document presents Virginia index crime and drug arrests rates from two different sources: Crime In The United States, by the U.S. Department of Justice Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and the Virginia Department of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) Criminal Justice Research Center. Both agencies use criminal incident reports compiled by the Virginia Department of State Police (VSP) to calculate Virginia crime and arrest rates, but the rates reported by each differ slightly. The differences are largely attributed to:

- (1) Different methodologies used to estimate missing or underreported crime or arrest data.
- (2) Different sources for population data used to calculate rates. FBI uses population estimates calculated by the U.S. Census Bureau. DCJS uses estimates produced by the Weldon Cooper Center for Public Service at the University of Virginia.
- (3) The FBI may "freeze" the crime data later than DCJS resulting in differences in the number of crimes used to calculate the rates.
- (4) Computing differences between mainframe processing at the FBI and PC processing at DCJS may have a small effect.

For valid comparisons, any discussion of Virginia crime and arrest rates versus national rates or rates of the other States use Virginia rates reported by the FBI in Crime In The U.S.

Virginia Violent Index Crime Rate, 1999 – 2008

Definitions

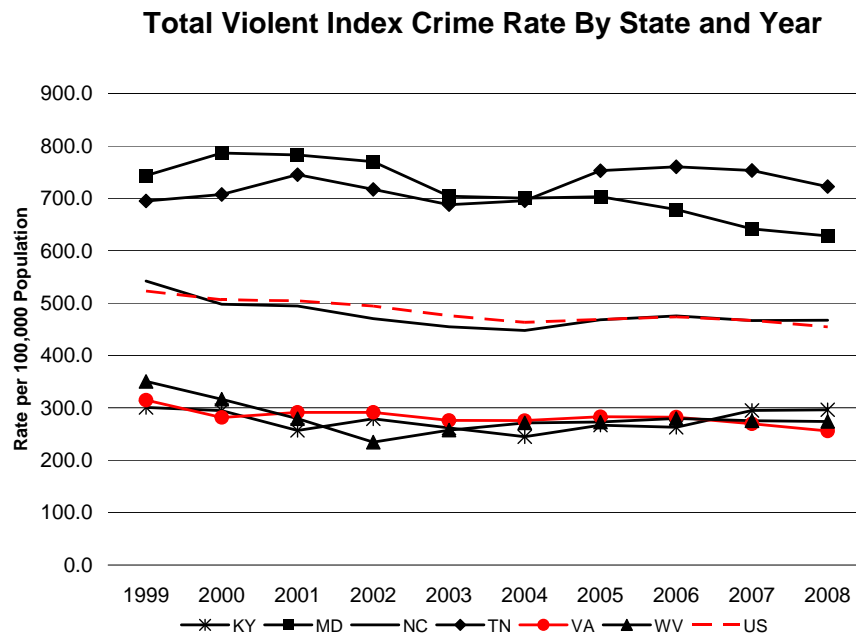

Violent index crimes are murder/nonnegligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault.

- Murder/nonnegligent manslaughter is the willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another.
- Forcible rape is the carnal knowledge of a person, forcibly and/or against that person's will; or not forcibly or against the person's will where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity. Forcible rape excludes statutory rape.
- Robbery is the taking, or attempting to take, anything of value under confrontational circumstances from the control, custody or care of another person by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear of immediate harm.
- Aggravated assault is defined as an unlawful attack by one person upon another where the offender uses a weapon or displays it in a threatening manner, or the victim suffers obvious severe or aggravated bodily injury involving apparent broken bones, loss of teeth, possible internal injury, severe laceration, or loss of consciousness. This also includes assault with disease.

Violent crime rate is the number of violent crimes reported per 100,000 population.

Virginia, U.S. & Border States Violent Index Crime Rate, 1999 – 2008

Source: FBI

Violent crime rates have been trending downward in both Virginia and the U.S. over the last decade. During this time Virginia's violent crime rates have been consistently below national rates and all but two border states.

From 1999 to 2008 the violent crime rate in Virginia decreased by almost 19% and by 13% in the U.S.

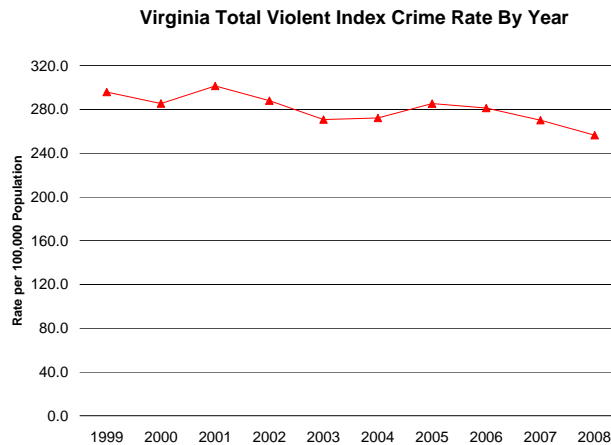

Violent Index Crime Rate
Percent Change By State and Year
	1999 - 2008	2007 - 2008
KY	-1.5	+0.4
MD	-15.5	-2.1
NC	-13.8	+0.2
TN	+4.0	-4.1
VA	-18.7	-5.1
WV	-21.9	-0.5
US	-13.1	-2.7

The violent crime rate in Virginia decreased by 5% from 2007 to 2008 and decreased by almost 3% nationwide.

In 2008 Virginia had the lowest violent crime rate of all shown above. Virginia's 2008 violent crime rate compared to the other 49 states can be found in Appendix D.

	Percent Change
	1999 - 2008	2007 - 2008
Robbery Rate	+1.3	-3.4
Aggravated Assault Rate	-22.9	-6.8

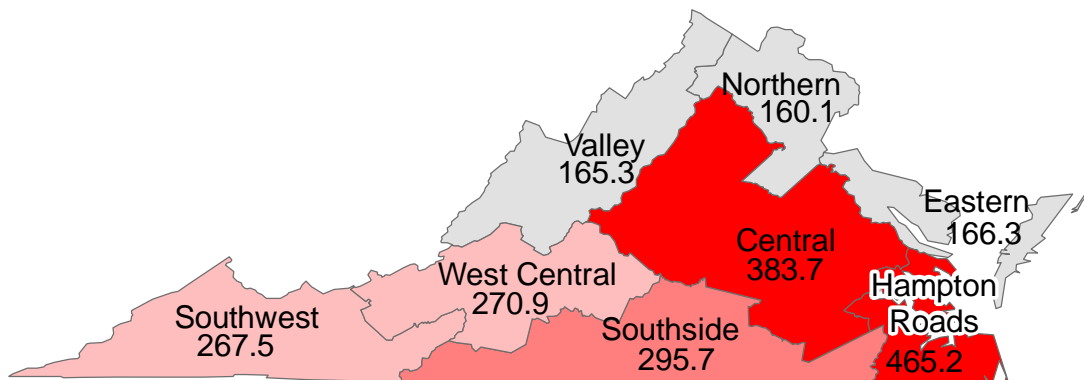

Robbery was the only violent offense rate that increased over the 10-year period 1999 to 2008. However, the robbery crime rate decreased from 2007 to 2008.

The aggravated assault rate declined from 1999 to 2008 and from 2007 to 2008. Aggravated assault was the violent offense with the largest rate decrease.

Virginia Violent Index Crime Rate by Region, 1999-2008

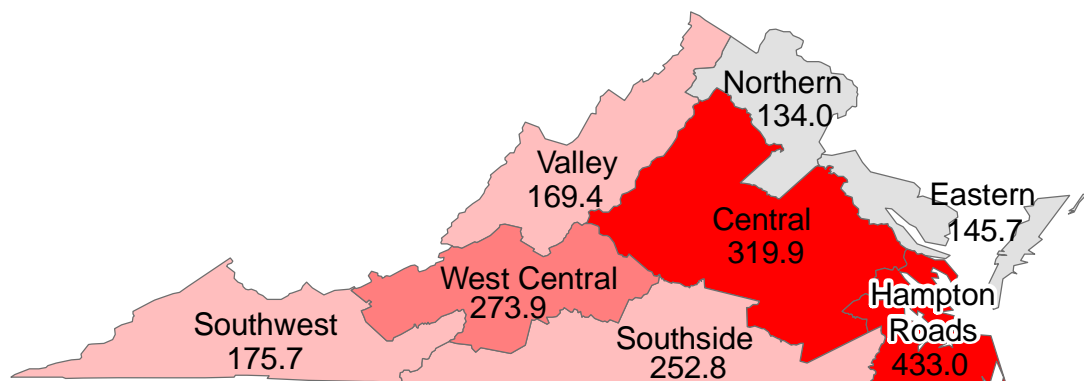

Source: DCJS

1999

In 1999 the statewide violent index crime rate was 295.9.

2008

In 2008 the statewide violent index crime rate was 256.4, a 13% decrease from 1999.

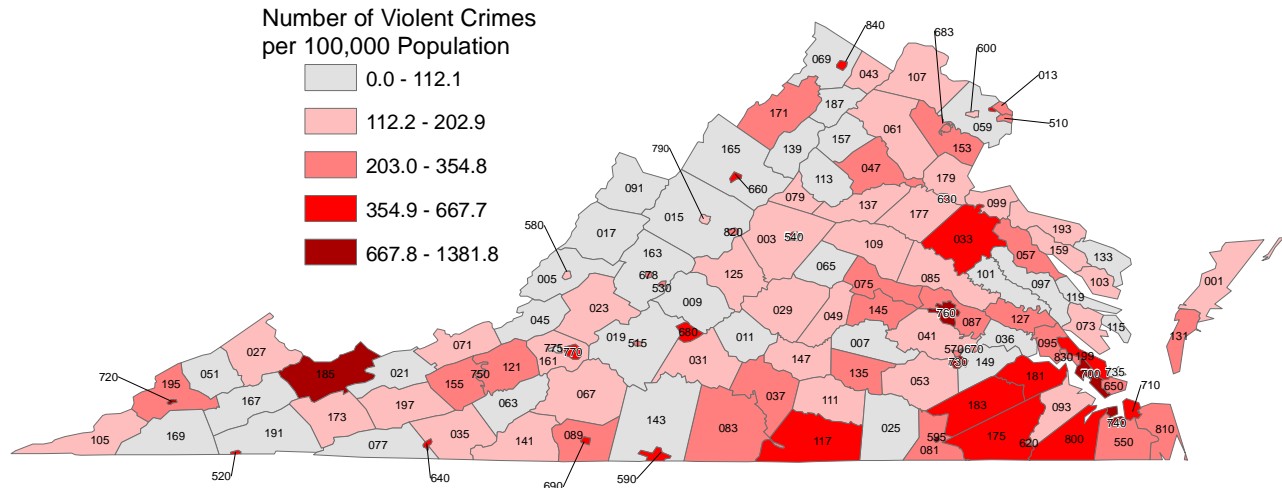

From 1999 to 2008 the violent index crime rate declined in all regions of Virginia except the Valley and West Central regions.

The Hampton Roads region had the highest violent index crime rate in 1999 and 2008. The Northern region had the lowest violent index crime rate in 1999 and 2008.

Virginia Violent Index Crime Rate by Locality, 1999-2008

1999

In 1999 the city of Emporia was the locality with the highest violent crime rate and Highland County had the lowest violent crime rate. (Note: Highland County reported no violent crimes in 1999 and therefore had a violent crime rate of 0.)

2008

Petersburg was the locality with the highest violent crime rate in 2008 and Rockingham County had the lowest violent crime rate.

Appendix A shows the violent crime rate by locality in each year 1999 and 2008 and how each locality ranked against all others in each year. Localities are labelled by their Federal Information Processing Standards code (aka FIPS code) in the maps above and in Appendix A.

Virginia Property Index Crime Rate, 1999-2008

Definitions

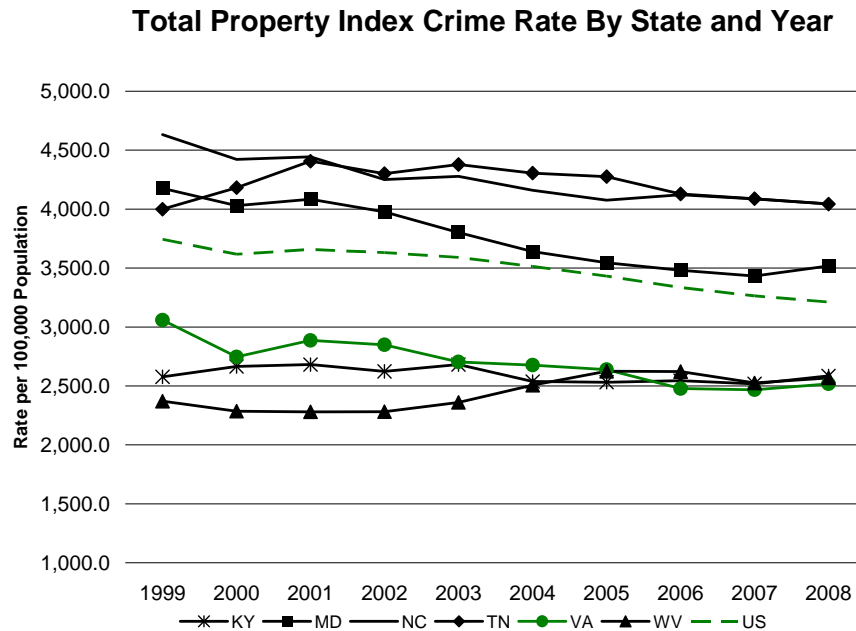

Property index crimes are burglary, larceny and motor vehicle theft.

- Burglary is defined as the unlawful entry into a building or other structure with the intent to commit a felony or a theft.
- Larceny is the unlawful taking, carrying, leading or riding away of property from the possession, or constructive possession, or another person.
- Motor vehicle theft is defined as the theft of a self-propelled vehicle that runs on the surface of land and not on rails. Such vehicles include automobiles, buses, recreational vehicles, trucks and other motor vehicles, e.g., motorcycles, trail bikes, golf carts, snowmobiles and mopeds.

Property crime rate is the number of property crimes reported per 100,000 population.

Source: DCJS

	Percent Change
	1999 - 2008	2007 - 2008
Total Property Index Crime Rate	-15.2	+1.8

Total property index crime rate decreased by 15% from 1999 to 2008 and increased by almost 2% from 2007 to 2008.

	Percent Change
	1999 - 2008	2007 - 2008
Burglary Rate	-9.6	0.0
Larceny Rate	-14.3	+2.9
Motor Vehicle Theft Rate	-34.5	-6.8

Each of the property index crime rates decreased across Virginia over the decade 1999 to 2008. Motor vehicle theft rate had the largest decline. From 2007 to 2008 the burglary rate was unchanged in Virginia and the motor vehicle theft rate decreased by almost 7%. The larceny rate increased by almost 3% over this one-year period. The increase in larcenies drove the statewide increase in total property index crime rate from 2007 to 2008.

2008

In 2008 Petersburg had the highest property index crime rate and Craig County had the lowest rate.

Appendix B contains property index crime rates for each locality in 1999 and 2008 and how each locality compared to all others.

Virginia Drug Arrest Rate, 1999-2008

Definitions

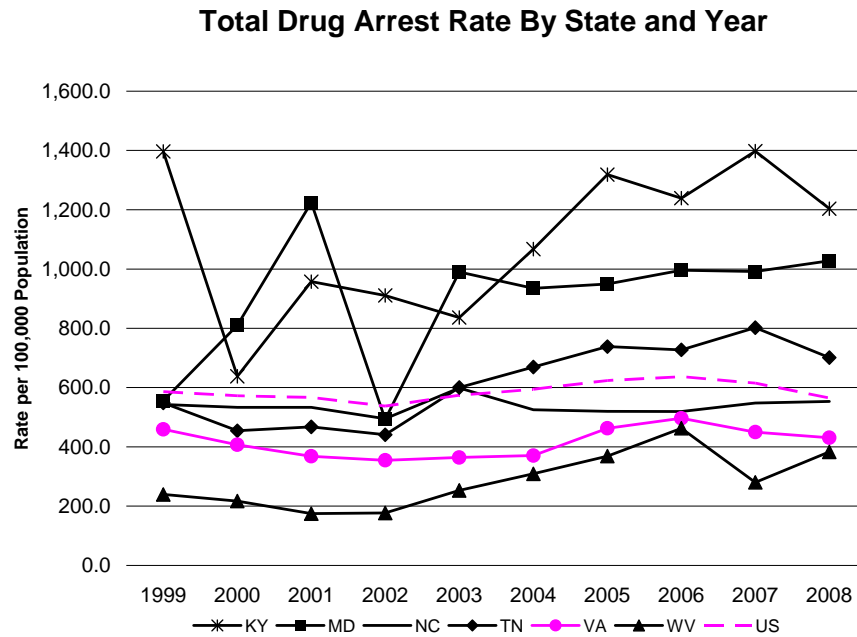

Drug arrest rate is the number of arrests for drug offenses per 100,000 arrest-age population. Arrest-age population includes all persons age 10 and up.

The total drug arrest rate includes arrests of both juveniles (individuals age 10-17) and adults.

Drug arrest statistics can reflect law enforcement anti-drug activities and are not an accurate indicator of drug prevalence.
